SOIL PARENT MATERIAL

REDDING, CONNECTICUT

LEGEND

Shale in Red Hill - The soil depth to bedrock ranges from 0 to 50 inches.

Shale in Red Hill - The soil depth to bedrock ranges from 0 to 50 inches.

Glacial Till & Melt-out Till - Glacial till has been deposited by moving glaciers and soils stripped of topsoil and parent materials. These materials are deposited by moving glacial meltwater and approximately flat-topped moraines. They are generally coarse textured with poorly developed horizon. The main till types are the Melt-out Till, Glacial Till, and Glaciofluvial Till deposits.

Glaciofluvial - Shallow to Bedrock - These deposits are formed by the movement of glacial meltwater, which eroded the landscape and deposited fine material. They are generally coarse textured with poorly developed horizon.

END USER LICENSE AGREEMENT (EULA)

For Users of the NYU Digital Library

This is an End User License Agreement (EULA) for the software application ("Software") and all associated documentation ("Documentation") made available to you, an end user or user in combination with other applications by the New York University Digital Library ("NYUDL"). By installing, copying, or otherwise using the Software and Documentation, you agree to be bound by the terms and conditions of this EULA. If you do not agree to all of the terms and conditions of this EULA, you are not authorized to use the Software and Documentation.

Use of the Software and Documentation

NYUDL grants to you a non-exclusive, non-transferable, limited license to use the Software and Documentation. You may use the Software and Documentation for personal, non-commercial purposes only. You may not distribute, copy, or otherwise use the Software and Documentation except as expressly permitted by this EULA. You may not reverse engineer, decompile, or disassemble the Software or Documentation.

Termination

This EULA is effective until terminated. You may terminate this EULA at any time by destroying the Software and Documentation and all copies thereof. This EULA will also terminate if you fail to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this EULA.

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

NYUDL and its suppliers disclaim all warranties, express or implied, regarding the Software and Documentation. NYUDL and its suppliers shall not be liable for any direct, indirect, incidental, special, exemplary, or consequential damages arising out of the use of or inability to use the Software and Documentation, even if NYUDL and its suppliers have been advised of the possibility of such damages.

Copyright

NYUDL and its suppliers retain all proprietary rights in the Software and Documentation. All rights not expressly granted herein are reserved by NYUDL.

Additional Terms

This EULA contains the entire agreement between you and NYUDL concerning the Software and Documentation. This EULA supersedes all prior or contemporaneous communications between you and NYUDL regarding the Software and Documentation.

Government Rights

If you are acquiring the Software and Documentation for use by an agency of the United States government, then the Software and Documentation are "commercial computer software" and "commercial computer software documentation," respectively, as such terms are defined in 48 C.F.R. § 2.101 (May 2002). Use, duplication, or disclosure by the government is subject to the terms of this EULA.

Notwithstanding the above, use of the Software and Documentation by the government shall be governed by the terms and conditions herein and pursuant to the terms of the license agreement between NYUDL and the government.

Export Control

You agree to comply with all applicable export laws and regulations. You may not export or re-export the Software or Documentation without the written permission of NYUDL.

Applicable Law

This EULA will be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without giving effect to its conflicts of law principles. Any disputes arising out of or relating to this EULA will be resolved exclusively by the State and Federal courts located in New York, New York, and you hereby consent to the exclusive jurisdiction and venue of such courts.

Notice of Intellectual Property Rights

This EULA may be accompanied by notices of intellectual property rights concerning the Software and Documentation. Such notices are incorporated into this EULA.

Additional Agreements

You may be required to agree to additional terms and conditions specific to your use of the Software and Documentation. You acknowledge and agree that you will be bound by any such additional terms and conditions.

Permission to复制

The NYU Digital Library grants you the permission to copy, modify, and redistribute the Software and Documentation as long as you do not sell or charge for the Software or Documentation and you do not receive any compensation for use of the Software or Documentation.
