Quinnipiac Ave - The soil depth to bedrock ranges from 20 to 40 inches.

The soil surveyor uses parent material to develop a model used for soils data shown on this map. Visit the CT DEP website to properties and landscape information may imply the kind of parent material.

SOIL PARENT MATERIAL

- Till: The depth to bedrock is less than 20 inches.
- Clay loam: The depth to bedrock ranges from 20 to 30 inches.
- Clay: The depth to bedrock ranges from 30 to 40 inches.
- Clayey loam: The depth to bedrock ranges from 40 to 50 inches.

EXPLANATION

Some spatial and temporal variation exists in soils, making them a valuable resource for agriculture, forestry, and urban development.

DATA SOURCES

Bureau of Labor Statistics - This map shows soil depth to bedrock ranges from 0 to 40 inches.
Bureau of Labor Statistics - This map shows soil depth to bedrock ranges from 0 to 40 inches.